Finding Your Voice and Self-Advocacy for Youth

LeDerick Horne, a dynamic spoken word poet and advocate for people with disabilities, will be joining us as we provide a day just for youth and their families. Oklahoma high school students who are deaf or hard of hearing and their families are invited to attend this exciting day just for you. Students will need a pen or pencil for the session. During the session, LeDerick will provide a combination of the two topics below.

Finding Your Voice: Visual art, form-poems and other alternatives to standard writing will be used to help students develop a picture of their future-self. The art from this session will be used to help develop short- and long-term goals related to education, independent living and careers.

Self-Advocacy: What is it and How Does it Work? LeDerick will introduce students to the concept of self-advocacy, demonstrate how it works in a variety of situations, and will prepare students to begin advocating for themselves. Students will also understand how self-advocacy skills are linked to identifying and achieving their life goals.
